

Often we are given two devices with fixed characteristics and we have to design a circuit that goes in between to achieve desired results:

Make sure you read + understand and can do all examples + exercises in Section 3-6.